for project „ART vs Cyberbullying”

20-28 June 2022

Bansko, Bulgaria

Co-funded by the Erasmus+ Programme
of the European Union

SUMMARY OF THE PROJECT

Youth exchange ART vs Cyberbullying is a response to growing hatred to people who are said to be different; - usually minority groups, people with other religions and cultures, skin color, ethnicity or other marginalized groups. In this context young people play a key role as being not only the future of Europe but its present. They are the ones who truly believe in European values and need to protect them now more than ever. But at the same time they are rather vulnerable-a lot of time they have low media literacy and lack of analytical skills thus can get easily manipulated by any anti-migrant and ultra nationalist political formations and groups promoting violence and justifying hatred and intolerance. In this context of lack of solidarity with refugees successful integration is almost an impossible mission which by itself is a threat to security in the EU. During the exchange, young people will have the opportunity to discuss key concepts such as freedom, justice, equality, human dignity, non-discrimination, democracy, tolerance, European values, rights, responsibilities, media and fake news, hate speech, hate crimes, extremism, violence, peace and solidarity. In addition, we also believe young people need to be aware of their own role in protecting human rights but also need to be equipped with the necessary knowledge and skills to tackle cyber bullying, hate speech and human rights violation. In order not to fight back hate speech with more hate and violence, the project will promote peaceful ways to engage youth and make them ambassadors of human rights.

The main objectives of the project proposal are:

- To raise awareness among young people about hate speech and cyberbullying as human rights violation
- to inform participants of ways to combat cyberbullying and hate speech in a non violent manner and to provide ways and channels for reporting it online
- promoting media literacy, analytical and critical thinking
- to present art and, in particular, graffiti and storytelling as an effective non violent way to Stand up for human rights
- Stimulate the civic participation of young people by encouraging them to be active in the field of human rights protection through art

The project will raise awareness among participants and other young people about Europe's major issues in an interactive, understandable and inclusive way. It will give them a platform for learning, exchanging experience and acting together against human rights violation such as cyberbullying and hate speech. Art and in particular, Graffiti and storytelling are interesting and engaging for young people and will stimulate them to speak up. The exchange will show the youth their own power and that they can play a key role in the human rights protection through learning ways to express themselves and engage their peers through art. They will realize how important is not to be passive, thus they will be inspired to engage their peers. The exchange will provide them a platform to discuss topics that are usually not tackled by formal education making them aware of the possible effects of hate speech such as hate crimes, youth radicalization, extremism, discrimination, division in society, social and other conflicts. Moreover, the most valuable results of the project will be the change in attitudes of youth about their own role - they will realize the power of non-formal education and the importance of not being ignorant, will promote responsibility towards the society. Very often young people think that they can not change anything by themselves, that nothing depends on them, and the project will show them that every action is important that they can use methods such as storytelling and graffiti to engage more young people, with which to tackle cyberbullying and hate speech among their peers.
